U. S. Army Engineers To Study California Gold Gravel Areas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Modification of the gold embargo to permit the exportation of gold bullion so as to preserve and expand the American mining and smetling industry is being urged upon President Roosevelt by Representative Englebright (R. Cal.).

Englebright who has had several conferences with the President on the subpect, told newspaper men Mr. Roosevelt, was giving it "very careful consideration."

At the same time it was made known the army board of engineers has been directed by the House Rivers and Harbors Committee to make a new study of hydraulic gold mining possibilities in Californiia.

At the request of Englebright, the committee adopted a resolution yesterday instructing the board to determine if it is advisable to prosecute any work for hydraulic mining and debris control at this time on the tributaries of the Sacramento river.

The board, in a study in 1928, determined that in the northern mining countries of Califoria there are over 400,000,000 cubic yards of gravel that could be mined by the hydraulic process, which based on past production, contained $600,000,000 in gold.

These deposits are the largest gold gravel areas known to the mining world, Englebright said.

The recent Treasury order permitting the export of gold ores, concentrates, precipitates and amalgam, Englebright added, will help the larger mining companies, but the smaller companies and the smelters will "suffer a substantial loss."

MRS. LEE LEITER BORNE TO REST

Requiem high mass was said this morning for the late Mrs. Nellie Joyce Leiter, wife of S. Lee Leiter, by the Rev. Father O'Reilly in St. Canice church. Scores of friends and relatives gathered there to do homage to her memory. A profusion of flowers bore mute testimony to the love in which she was held in this community.

After the services the funeral cortege of sorrowing relatives and friends followed the hearse carrying the earthly remains of Mrs. Leiter to Oakland where interment will take place in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Leiter was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Joyce, pioneer residents of Grass Valley, where she was born and reared. She graduated from Nevada county schools and became a teacher, teaching in Nevada and Sutter counties.

She was married to Mr. S. Lee Leiter in 1903. Mr. Leiter was then in charge of the Maher Dry Goods Store. After a short stay in San Jose they returned to Nevada City where Mr. Leiter and brothers purchased the Maher dry goods store and named it the Lace House.

Mrs. Leiter was always ready and willing to give a helping hand, a cheery word or genial smile to those who were in trouble. She took an active interest in the Nevada City Benevolent Society of which she was a member, always giving bountifully to those in need.

She was deeply interested in the civic betterment of this city and shared with her husband in the good deeds and interests of the Elks lodge of which he is a member.

She is survived by her husband, three sisters, Mrs. Susan Carr of Nevada City; Mrs. John Loutzenheiser of Grass Valley and Mrs. R. C. Frey of Oakland; and the following nephews and nieces, Mrs. F. F. Cassidy, Percy V. and Robert Carr of Nevada City; Dr. John Loutzenheiser; Mrs. Dolores Stewart; Raymond P. Dr. Walter, Gus and Nellie Hawkins.

Holmes Funeral Home had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Miss Elizabeth Janes of Santa Cruz and Miss Charlotte Davis of Berkeley stopped over at the Buffington ranch for a short visit this week coming here from Yosemite. They left for their homes Friday, going by way of Lake Tahoe. Miss Janes, niece of the Buffington brothers, taught in the Nevada City grammar school until last year, when she accepted a responsible position in Santa Cruz schools.

C. C. C. CAMP BOYS BUILD 381 MILES MOUNTAIN ROADS

The first cumulative report of the work accomplished in the national forests of California by President Roosevelt's great social, economic and forestry experiment of the Civilian Conservativation Corps has just been issued by S. B. Show, U. S. Regional Forester and coordinator for California.

Reports from 128 C. C. C. camps show that in less than six weeks after the camps have been fully established, the 18 national forests of the State have been aided administratively by the construction and maintenance of 381 miles of forest roads, 379 miles of telephone line and the erection of 105 buildings.

Forest fire protection has been strengthened by the construction and maintenance of 463 miles of truck trails, 82 miles of fire breaks, and 77 miles of fire lines, clearing of inflammable material from 99 miles of road and the felling of 464,000 songs. In addition, the C. C. C. is furnishing the Forest Service an organized fire fighting force long needed for the protection of California forests and watersheds, which, according to forest officers, is becoming more efficient as the men become accustomed to this form of warfare. To date, the cost of fire fighting in California National Forests is $19,086 as compared to the five-year average of $90,465, a reduction of 80 per cent.

Recreation has been aided by the clearing of 2,599 acres of public camp grounds and the development of water and camping facilities. Grazing resources have been conserved by the poisoning of rodents on 403,935 acres and the building of 350 check dams to prevent the erosion on mountain meadows. Numerous other projects are started in various lines of forest work, and much work has been done which cannot be classified but which will appear in later reports.

FORMER RESIDENT OF NEVADA CITY PASSES

Relatives and friends in Nevada City were shocked by the news that Charles J. Matli, 74, had died Sunday night at San Francisco. He was not known to be in a serious physical condition when he went to the bay city last August 12, to visit a friend. Matli for years was one of the familiar family names of Nevada county, the deceased being the paternal head. Edmond is a son and John and Frank Matli are brothers living in the vicinity of Chowchilla. Other relatives are Joe and Angelo, brothers of Prescott, Arizona, and two sisters living in Italy. The deceased came to this country from his native country, Italy, at the age of 21 and had lived in this region for about six years, coming to this state from Idaho 18 years ago.

Funeral services were held August 16 at the Catholic church, Chowchilla, conducted by Rev. M. M. O'Loughlin. The pallbearers were Joe Cornaggia, Joe Massaro, Elmer Chezick, John Romero, Alex Leoni, Dave Tarabini, Burial was at Calvary cemetery at Chowchilla.

Miss Margaret Coughlan, who has been doing duty as a nurse at the Nevada City Sanitarium returned to her home at North Columbia Saturday.

BEWARE! DON'T PUFF CIGARETTE WITHIN 10 MILES OF THIS CHAP

It can be said without a fear of contradiction that Gordon Buck, 23, Forest Service lookout-man on Grouse Ridge, Tahoe National Forest, has eyes like an eagle.

He sigted a small puff of smoke in the vicinity of the Blue Canyon emergency landing field ,which is eleven miles as the crow flies from Mr. Buck's lookout station.

Immediately the smoke was reported to the ranger headquarters. The man sent to the fire was pleased to find not the slightest indication of a fire, and also considerably amused to learn that it was the exhaust smoke from a small three cylinder engine that was mounted on a small aeroplane.

The grinning aviator was told that Mr. Buck could see the whites of a man's eyes at a much greater distance than did the Yanks at Bunker Hill.

OWNERS CLAIM LAND OTHERS HELD 40 YEARS

REDDING, Aug. 21—(UP)—For more than 40 years Mr. and Mrs. G. Eldridge have been living on property that did not belong to them—and they didn't know it.

A recent court action brought by Anna Baker revealed the fact that the Eldridge farm houses were erected on property which actually belonged with the Baker holdings.

The court decided the true dividing line between the two farms and awarded the plaintiff $50 damages.

SALES TAX TALK WORRIES ROLPH

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21—(UP)—Governor Rolph is really seriously worried over political consequences of the retail sales tax. The public generally has an erroneous impression that the governor is mainly responsible for the onerous tax impelled Rolph to strike back vigorously.

The counter attack took the form charges of a "whispering campaign." The governor declared political enemies were covertly spreading rumors that his administrative mistakes and extravagances made a sales tax necessry.

Rolph spoke vaguely of sinister forces behind the scenes who were trying to knife him. The impression is general, however, that these "political enemies" are mostly fictitious. The governor knows publicity and merely personalized his defense, knowing full well such a statement would find its way into print.

Jack D. Green's eagerness to save his partner from the gallows has probably cost him his own life. Mr. Green and J. F. Regan were sentenced to die for killing Police Lieutenant Hugh Crowley in Los Angeles. At a time when Green's chances for commutation appeared to be excellent, he wrote a letter to Rolph pleading for Regan.

In this letter, Green made a sad mistake. He said it was only an "act of God" that prevented him, instead of Regan, from firing the shots that killed Crowley. Governor Rolph declared Green convicted himself by this statement ,in that he admitted he would have shot had he been in position to do so.

If Governor Rolph follows his finance director's recommendations—and he usually does—he will veto the Robinson Ad Valorem tax repeal bill. This measure would have made it impossible to levy an ad valorem tax. Thus, if the state were in bad financial shape when the legislature was not in session, there would be only two outs: 1. register warrants; 2, convoke a special session of the legislature.

Vandegrift argued the bill would seriously inpair the state's credit.

Rolph's latest man Friday is Tim Reardon, a political and personal crony of the old San Francisco days. Reardon has been the governor's big gun in recent economic disturbances. First he was sent to Hollywood to arbitrate a film controversy. No soon was that accomplished than the genial Tim was conscripted to find a solution to the farm strike.

CANADA LIFTS BARS TO U. S. GOLD PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—The action of the Canadian government Saturday in permitting import into Canada of American-mined gold ore, concentrates, precipitates and unretorted amalgam was intrepreted by officials today as providing a higher market for American gold mines.

Gold in the United States commands a fixed price of $20.67 per ounce ,while in Canada recently it has been selling for more than $28 an ounce.

Several days ago the United States relaxed President Roosevelt's gold embargo to permit export of gold ore, concentrates, precipitates and unretorted amalgam. The action was taken after receipt of many requests from American mining companies that they be permitted to take advantage of the higher prices in foreign markets.

At the treasury today it was said no further relaxation in the gold embargo was contemplated so far as was known there.

POSTOFFICE BOXES ALL RENTED IN NEV. CITY

Post Master Phil Scadden stated this morning that the Nevada City post office is in a healthier condition than in any time in its history .

There are 700 boxes in the office and all are in use except less than a dozen that are out of order, and there are calls daily for more boxes.

Only a short time since the Nevada City Nugget published an article shownig that the fiscal year, 1932-33 revealed a new peak in Nevada City post office receipts.

Mrs. Mary E. Campbell of North Columbia has returned to her home after a few days visit in this city.

Gold Shipments To Mint Drop 75 Pct.

SAN, FRANCISCO, Aug. 21—The Sacramento Bee says: A 75 per cent drop in deposits of gold with the mint, and loading of the first shipments of placer gold to leave the United States since President Roosevelt's embargo are week-end developments in the gold export situation.

WOULD GAIN $7

Authorities are inclined to the belief that the government will permit a free gold market in this country at the world price, which is about $7 per ounce higher than the United States Mint price of $20.67, rather than let American's newly mined gold go to foreign markets.

The most striking syspton of the past several days' developments, aside from Thursday's rise in gold mine stocks is the drop in gold deposits at the mint. Superintendent Peter F. Haggerty says the small depositors ,apparently in need of money and unable to hold their gold for higher prices, are turning in their metal as usual at the old price but that since the export ban was lifted last week on gold in forms other than bullion, the large handlers are delivering less than one fourth of their normal deposits.

GOLD APPARENTLY HELD

"They are holding their gold and evidently are devising ways to dispose of it elsewhere," says Haggerty.

The Wells Fargo Bank is shipping two lots of placer gold to London via the Panama Canal aboard the Dutch liner Damsterdyk, leaving San Francisco today. They are classified as "concentrate" under the treasury order permitting concentrates, precipitates and unretorted amalgam to be exported. The shipments are small, totaling less than $3,000 in value.

REQUIRES FORTY-FIVE DAYS

The bank is undertaking to act as shipper for the California owners, shipping to the bank's correspondents abroad, who will have the metal refined and then dispose of it on the London market. A fee is charged for the service. The bank says that in some cases it is willing to make an advance to the owner against the shipment's value, but will not deliver the full return from the London market until the transaction is completed, probably in about forty-five days. In the case of amalgam exports, elaborate assays are necessary before an advance can be paid.

S. B. Gracier, large bullion broker here, announces that he will be ready in a short time to handle gold at the world market price for small producers who now have no outlet except at the mint's $20.67 price. The broker will pay an advance on delivery here according to the assay value of amalgam, concentrate or precipitate, and after the sale is made in London will pay the remainder of the world price.

CANADIAN MART FAVORED

If the present export limitations are contniued ,California interests say they will prefer to dispose of their product in Canada, rather than in England.

The Canadian bank says the Yuba Manufacturing Company has proposed building facilities at Vancouver, B. C., to refine American gold to be sold to the Canadian government assay office at that city. Refining facilities are said to be inadequate at Vancouver, and the nearest large plants are at Ottawa.

SPECULATION FORESEEN

Friday's gold price on the London market, in the American dollar equivalent, was $28.30.

J. C. Kemp van Ee Jr., secretary of the Mining Association of California, complains that if the newly opened export outlets are maintained and export rises to any large proportions, California producers will be at the mercy of manipulators on the London market who will be able to depress the market, at will in order to get California gold at low levels.

MILLONS TO BE SPENT IN STATE BY FOREST DEPT.

To aid the nationwide program for industrial recovery and the re-employment of men U. S. Forest Service funds to the amount of $8,500,000, will be expanded during the next two years in the construction and maintenance of forest highways, secondary roads and trails, fire prevention and administrative improvements in the 18 national forests of California and southwestern Nevada, according to statement by S. B. Show, Federal regional forester at the San Francisco headquarters of the Forest Service.

This amount of money will be used to purchase the machinery and equipment needed for the work, and it is estimated will also provide for one and one-half million man-days of labor, or the employment of 10,000 men at a substantial wage for a period of 150 each. All positions, other than that of common laborer, will be under Civil Service, and the work will be on the basis of a 30-hour week.

The appropriations received by the Forest Service under the National Industrial Recovrey Act for expendiutre within the national fordivided into three classes as folests of the California Region are lows: $2,978,000 for national forest roads and trails required for the administration, protection, utilization and development of the national forests; $2,660,000 for national forest highway which form a part of the United States and Federal-aid systems and are of great importance both to the traffic on these systems and in making the national forests accessible; $2,871,000 for national forest protection and administrative improvements, and special forestry projects.

This work has all been done within three weeks and believed to be close to the record for this district. J. P. McFadden is superintendent of the mine.

DAHLIAS SEEDED IN MARCH, BLOOMING NOW

Postmaster P. G. Scadden is exhibiting at the postoffice two wonderful dahlia blooms, one a pale lemon color and the other bright maroon. Both are enormous blossoms, the maroon measuring easily eight inches in diameter, but aside from their beauty the interesting thing about these flowers is that they were grown from seeds planted March 11, and that the plants began to bloom six months later almost to a day. Mr. Scadden has one of the most charming gardens in Nevada City and in his leisure time is an enthusiastic gardener.

THE SWIMMIN' HOLE

A great many people voted at the last special election for a municipal "swimmin' hole," and we suspect, did so with a certain vigor and vim, that had nothing much to do with the vision of a beautiful park in which thousands of boys and girls and older folks would go for picnics, luncheons and supper parties, and a plunge in a gloriously cool pool on a hot summer's day.

But the City Council, now moving rapidly toward the realization of this long time dream of Nevada City, had just that vision of what the present and future generations will enjoy when they selected the present side for the municipal swimming pool at the end of Park avenue.

It will be worth anybody's time to go and see that site. Of course those who see it now must do a bit of envisioning its possibilities along with the city council.

And those that do see it now will see an old fashioned swimming hole, larger than many municipal swimming pools, that has been improvised wth logs and sacks filled with gravel and built mainly by the enthusiastic labor of Nevada City's boys. At one end is a big boulder from which these youngsters madly launch, after tearing off their clothing in the manner of boys in a hurry.

The upper reaches of the park site are well covered with beautiful trees and the shrubs characteristic of this region, while the lower end is a creek flat at present given over to a luxurious growth of alfalfa, which augurs well for lush lawns, and offers ample space for tennis courts and other outdoor sports.

Now, of course, this site cannot be improved, presto! like a rabbit out of a silk hat, in the twinkling of an eye, or a year or even in ten years, perhaps, but it is a site, endowed at this moment by nature with most of the charms for which other less fortunate localities must wait years while trees and shrubs are growing, and spend large sums for landscaping and scenic development.

As soon as legal requirements are complied with the City Council proposes to proceed with the construction of the swimming pool.

Furthermore, a perpetual stream of clear water flows through the pool at no expense to the city, solving at once the sanitary problem that usually arises with the construction of a swimming pool for public use, and the financial problem that always accompanies it.

Without making any invidious comparisons with parks and municipal pools of other localities, we are prepared to say this: A better site could not have been chosen by the city council, and, we believe the time will soon come when thousands of people will visit it, to enjoy not only a good swim, but the natural beauty of Nevada City's little park.

WEEKLY COMMENT

Erik the oldest in our family of three has a new chore self imposed and thoroughly enjoyed. Each time he is sent down town on an errand he takes the mail box key and since the postmaster kindly gave us a low box the sprout gets a thrill in going after the mail .

Miss Beth Young had a novel and exciting experience the other evening. She went out for a short ride and later discovered that she had lost her purse out of the car. A considerable sum of money was in the purse as well as some valuable papers. In walking down the road to see if she could find the purse she met three C .C. In my travels around I hear some rumblings against the N. R. A. This attitude seems to me to be shortsighted. My feeling in the matter is, that it is good sense to support the administration program, voluntarily. For truly it has legal as well as every other status to make sure that it will have the effect which it is intended to have .

Another sign of the times is that the automobile section of the metropolitan papers are coming back to normalcy in size. Their advertising has been very slim ever since the complete business debacle in 1930.

I am not speaking of the merits of any car, but one of the cleverest bits of advertising sophistication is Walter Chrysler's, "look at all three." Once in a generation some one hits on some slogan in advertising which really clicks.

Just a suggestion for the success of future wars. Find the best Irishwoman shillaleh wielder in the world make her an instructor to teach a regiment on each side how to use this ancient and honorable weapon. When they are thoroughly trained turn them loose against each other and, at the end of two day's shillahleh wielding have a committee of statesmen chosen from both sides carefully check the casualities on each side. The side with the most broken shillahlehs would be acclaimed victor. The winner should then buy the loosers each a drink of pink lemonade, and let that settle the argument. But then what is the use of recommending anything. Nobody pays the slightest attention.

FOLSOM PRISON IS OVERCROWDED

COURT SMITH
Warden of Folsom Penitentiary

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21—(UP)—Uncomfortably aware over-crowded conditions are a common source of major prison breaks, Warden C. Smith, a towering figure of a man, is hastening construction of a new 200-cell block at Folsom penitentiary as fast as money and labor will permit.

Smith is faced with a serious situation. Housing facilities cannot possibly accomodate comfortably the 2967 convicts in Folsom. (When Smith assumed charge in 1927 there were only 1873 prisoners). Two inmates are crowded into one man cells. In cells constructed for two, as many as four or five are crammed in.

The old school room—center of the 1927 riot in which 11 were killed—is sleeping quarters of 240 convicts.

Such a situation would be bad enough in the normal penitentiary. But Folsom is different. It is probably the "toughest" prison in the United States—this because only two-time losers are admitted there. Every man inside the prison walls is a confirmed criminal.

Consequently Folsom, under present conditions, is said to be sitting on a "powder keg."

Smith has been chasing or watching criminals for 30 years. He was sheriff of Tulare county when appointed warden. Hardly had he settled down, when the famous Thanks-giving Day riot broke out. The efficient manner in which Smith quelled the outbrake established his reputation right off the bat. Since then, state officials assert, his administration has been excellent.

Finance Director Rolland Vandegrift said that Folsom despite its serious problems, is operated on an amazing low per capita cost. During the last fiscal year, he pointed out, per capita cost was $177 which is understood to be one of the lowest in the United States. Because of hospital staff additions and prison farm improvements, the per capita outlay was increased for the 1933-35 biennium to $184.

Vandegrift said low cost operation at Folsom was not accompanied by reduction in quantity or quality of food. "The efficiency and saving was achieved by watching pennies, tightening up on administrative methods and development of self-supporting agencies," he explained.

Governor Rolph is one of Smith's major worries. Occasionally the governor wants to visit "the boys"—the boys being hardened two-timers. Rolph likes to walk down a convict line shaking hands. Meanntime, Smith is shaking in his boots for fear some tough group of prisoners might grab the executive and hold him prisoner until they were permitted to escape.

FIVE HUNDRED BOYS TO BE STATE FAIR GUESTS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21—(UP)—This year's state fair will be a gala event for at least 500 boys of California.

Chosen for meritorious work in high school agriculture classes, the boys will be guests of the state department of education at the ninth annual convention of the Future Farmers of America.

In addition to taking part in several special programs, the boys will eat and sleep at their camp located inside the state fair grounds.

WAR DECLARED ON MARIHUANA

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21—(UP)—California has declared war on marihuana—the nation's "depression narcotic."

William G. Walker, chief of the state narcotics division, announced here that his burean, cooperating with federal authorities, has started an extensive drive on all mariruana growers, peddlers and users.

"The use of marihuana cigaretts has increased so rapidly that it has become a national drug menace," Walker said. "California's problem is emphasized because this is one of the largest marihuana producing states. The plant requires heat and thrives in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and the Los Angeles area."

The first few days of the drive saw the seizure of approximately 1,500 marihuana plants. The plants were placed in quarantine and ordered destroyed, Walker reported.

Maribuana, the officer reported, is a hard-times drug. Production cost is slight and there are no smuggling expenses. A 25-cent cigaret made of the marihuana flower offer the smoker three hours of exhiliration—and several hours of the not-so-pleasant after effects.

These "after effects," incidentally, includes loss of power in the limbs, rapid pulse and slow respiration followed by catalepsy and convulsions when used in large quantities.

The trouble maker is a tall plant with slender stem, long spiny leaves and narcotic-bearing blossoms. It is identical with Indian hemp or hashish in appearance and effect.

"Because it has become one of our most serious dope menaces, we intend to scour the state and stamp it out at the source," Walker said.

TEMPORARY GOLD RUSH STIRS C. C. C. CAMP

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 21—(UP)—Citizens Conservation Corps camp here is going through its own private gold rush.

It all started when some gravel was taken from an old mining site nearby and spread along the pathways leading to the camp barracks. One camp member found a few flakes of the precious metal— and the "rush" was on.

Claims were filed with the company commander and hopes are high. So far the gravel has produced approximately $2.50 worth of gold.

FOOT INJURY

While starting his car this morning John Figurski cranked it and tried to get in as it started down hill. It ran several feet striking a fender against a large pine tree that stopped the progress of the car. One of his feet caught between the car and the tree.

His injury will require several days of treatment.

MRS. TOGNARELLI TELLS OF FAST VOYAGE HOME

Mrs. John Tognarelli and daughter, Catherine, returned Friday evening from a visit in Genoa, Italy, old home of Mrs. Tognarelli. They left Nevada City, June 19 and were gone just two months.

Upon their return voyage on the giant S. S. Rex, of the Italia line, the big ship established a world record for speed. Mrs. Tognarelli and daughter were both thrilled to have been on this ship when it made its record breaking voyage.

The big ship crossed the ocean, 3181 sea miles, in four days 13 hours and 58 minutes ,an average of 29.92 knots per hour or 736 miles daily average speed. It took them just nine days travelling from Genoa, Italy, to Sacramento leaving there Thursday August 10, and arriving Friday, August 19. Their first stop of 1 and one-half hours out of Genoa was Villefranche, then to Gibralter where there was a stop of two hours, then across the Atlantic. The last two days were foggy and rough but the large boat sailed so smoothly that no one was ill. All was excitement on board as the great liner arrived in New York City harbor where they were greeted by sounding of sirens and whitsles of other ships, in a salute.

There were 3888 passengers and 900 employees on the Rex. It is a small city afloat.

On board the ship are, a milliner shop, shoe store, dry goods store, furniture store, jewelry shop, dress shop ,souvenir store, etc., with room for moving pictures, dancing, games and swimming. The swimming pond was twice as large as Memorial Park pool of Grass Valley. The tickets purchased for the trip covered the tax on goods purchased on the ship. There was a splendid 72 piece band that rendered all sorts of music.

The passenger accomodations consisted of first, first special, second, second special, third classes.

Mrs. Tognarelli found her 87 year old father in poor health, which made the visit home a sad one.

They brought home many pictures of Genoa, Italy. One picture of particular interest was taken by the ship's photographer of Genoa.

Italo Balbo and his fleet of 24 planes returning from the United States. This is a sky view taken between Villefranca and Gibraltar, the planes coming so near that they gave a salute to the Rex.

Thirteen years ago Mrs. Tognarelli made this same trip on the steam ship Pasaro in 21 days ocean voyage.

Premier Mussolini gave orders to Commander Francesco Trarabotto and Chief Engineer Luigi Risso to make the record run and reports were made twice daily on their progress to a member of the Premier's cabinet.

Officials of the boat presented Mrs. Tognarelli and daughter with a silver souvenir carrying the picture of the giant ship Rex and a silk belt with the name Rex and the ship's emblem.

While they enjoyed the trip and visit in Genoa with relatives, they were glad to return to their home in California, U. S. A..

ROBT. A. LEE OF SAN JOSE PASSES AWAY

Friends in Nevada City were shocked upon receiving word that Robert A. Lee had passed away in San Jose, August 16, from a heart attack following an operation.

He was well known here ,having married the former Miss Orlena Arnhart, a native of Nevada City, the family having a fruit ranch up on the Tahoe Ukiah highway. She grew to young womanhood here. She met Mr. Lee when he came to Nevada City to spend his vacation.

Mr. Lee taught in several school, but had taught in Lowell high school San Jose, 33 years.

At one time he was president of the grammar school division of the California State Teachers Association. He was also prominent in lodge circles.

He leaves a devoted wife, and daughter, Mrs. Veva Cross, the latter of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mary German had as guests last week end her sister, Mrs. J. Rosewall, of Oakland, her niece and daughters, Mrs. Rodifer, and two daughters, Joy and Janet of Watsonville. They also visited other relatives while in Nevada City.

MANY MOURN PASSING OF ANTHONY PIANIZZI

The death of Anthony Pianezzi yesterday afternoon at his home on the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway comes as a severe shock to his relatives and his many friends.

"Tony", as he was generally known, was born in Downieville in 1882. His devotion to the interests of his friends and his ready aid to those in need endeared him to a wide circle. At the Sixteen to One mine, where he was foreman of the mill for twelve year, he was one of the most popular of men both with his company and with the workers in the mine.

Since last May he had been living in Nevada City, most of the time under the care of physicians. He suffered from mercury poisoning.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Neva K. Pianezzi, a daughter, Madge Pianezzi, his mother, Mrs. L. Pianezzi, all of Nevada City; a sister, Mrs. William Tippetts of Sacramento, a second sister, Mrs. Anna James of Grass Valley ,and a brother Raymond S. J. Pianezzi of Sacramento. Also surviving are the following nieces and nephews, Carl Murphy and Fae Murphy of Sacramento, Alene James of Grass Valley and Donald Murphy of this city.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Canice Catholic church. The Rev. Father O'Reilly will conduct the service. The Holmes Funeral Home will have charge of the funeral. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

John Figurski has just received word from his father ,a recent Nevada City visitor, that he has been making steady improvement in his health since going to Long Beach to visit.

American Heroines

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

Mary Slocum

IT WAS a dream that brought out the quality of daring in Mary Slocum and won her lasting fame as the heroine of the Battle of Moore's creek.

At the outset of the Revolutionary war, the British were landing troops at Wilmington, hoping to enlist the aid of the loyalists settled in the southern states and invade North Carolina. A band of supporters of King George immediately assembled in the highlands and commenced a march to the sea to join the British expedition. Patriots, rallying from the sections above Greenboro and below New Bern, under th leadership of James Moore, Richard Caswell and Alexander Lillington, planned to halt their march at the narrow bridge over Moore's creek. Among the patriots was Lieut. Ezekial Slocum, of Wayne county.

The night preceding the battle his wife Mary had a dream. "I saw distinctly," she wrote afterwards, "a body wrapped in my husband's guard cloak, bloody, dead; and others dead and wounded on the ground about him. I saw them plainly and distinctly. I uttered a cry and sprang to my feet on the floor; and so strong was the impression on my mind, that I rushed in the direction the vision had appeared, and came up against the side of the house."

Mary's only thought was that she must get to her husband. She ran out to the stable and saddled a mare, leaped to her back and tore off down the dark road, quite unaware of the dangers she risked. When the dawn broke she was already thirty miles from home. About nine o'clock, when both she and her horse were nearly exhausted, she heard the ominous thunder of cannon. Then, only a hundred yards from Moore's Creek bridge, she came upon a group of wounded men lying under some trees, and among them lay one wrapped in her husband's bloody guard-cloak!

The wounded man, it seems, was not Ezekial Slocum after all, but Frank Cogwell, a neighbor of theirs and a man noted for his way with women. Mary set to work, washing his wounds, binding them up with heart leaves, and administering also to the other wounded. Presently her husband did appear, "as bloody as a butcher," she said later, and duly astonished to find his wife there, holding Cogwell tenderly in her arms. He had just come from the furious charge that had routed the loyalists and prevented the British invasion of North Carolina. And when, the battle done, Richard Caswell came up and asked her how she came there, Mary Slocum answered, "Oh, I thought you would need nurses as well as soldiers!"

LIVER, STOMACH AND DIGESTIVE TROUBLES

Life is not worth living if you are not well. What is the cause of sickness? We have found it, and have the remedy in diet and Herbal Remedies. Two-thirds of our sickness originates in our kitchen (the Liver, Stomacch and Bowels). ..When the Liver is clogged, congested and diseased the Stomach. Intestines and Spleen become involved. In turn the Heart is often affected. The Venous circulation becomes congested and clogged, causing High Blood Pressure with all its dangers and misery.

Symptoms often accompanying Liver and Stomach troubles are: Gas, acid, and pains in the stomach and bowels, jaundice, nervousness, despondency, piles, rheumatism in any part of the body, gallstones with their severe cutting pains, toxemia and blood poisoning. Should these troubles be neglected, they are likely to result in more complicated diseases, such as Dibetes, Apeplexy, Heart Disease, Nephritis and other troubles.

We have dealt with thousands of cases throughout the states and in foreign countries, where the patients have suffered untold misery; their complaints have been diagnosed as cancer of the Liver or Stomach, Ulcers, Gallstones, etc., with no relief suggested but morphine or the knife. But they have been readily restored by our special Herbal Remedies. This is also true in a large percentage of the so-called appendicitis cases.

The purpose of our Remedies is to remove the cause of Stomach trouble, to cleanse and restore the Liver and Spleen to normal functioning, to prevent gas formation, equalizing the circulation, and lowering the high blood pressure. It also builds up the hemoglobin of the blood, correcting anemia, with its pale waxy appearance and tired, listless feeling, giving in its place color to the cheeks and life and buoyancy to the body. It is a general house cleaner and rejuvenator, sweeping out old aches and pains that have bothered you for years, and leaving the health and joy which should be yours. If you wish to keep young and fit, this is the Ideal Remedy to take every few years. It is a general renovator and a barrier to old age.
